Art at the Park Parking Lot Fundraiser

The Annual Art at the Park event sponsored by the Trout Museum of Art is Sunday, July 29. Year after year, the Summer Interns have worked a parking lot fundraiser to go toward different youth and outreach programs. This year, the money collected from this fundraiser will go toward the High School mission trip set for summer, 2019. For those of you who are attending church on Sunday, you do not have to worry about paying for parking. The event runs from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. and provides musical entertainment, local food vendors, creative kids art show, children's activities, and of course, many art vendors selling their work. Please consider attending this traditional Fox Cities event and support our youth by parking at the Downtown Site. If you're interested in helping park cars, please contact Heidi Schreiner (hschreiner@felc.com).

You're invited: Information Gathering Regarding Future FELC Leadership

A while ago, Pastors Tengesdal and Bauer began to think about, discuss together, and engage the Congregation Council in conversation regarding their long-term aspirations. Like many of us, they and our Church Administrator Brenda Smongeski hope to retire someday. Fortunately for us, that day is some 4-5 years away.

By sharing their plans, our pastors have given our congregation time to reflect and to dream together. Those dreams are about God's call to us as a congregation, the future FELC leadership roles, and how best to approach filling them when the time is appropriate.

Members of the Congregation Council are now engaged as a team to prayerfully and proactively begin development of a plan so that FELC continues to be equipped with strong leaders well into the future.

As part of the preliminary process, we invite you to an information gathering session. Its purpose is to share with us your own hopes regarding the future pastoral leadership roles at First English. We would also like to hear your thoughts regarding the process - how you believe FELC might best move from our current to future pastors while maintaining focus on our mission and service to others.

Please attend either of two opportunities to share your thoughts:

- Sunday, July 22 at 9:30 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Downtown Site
- Wednesday, July 25 at 7:15 p.m. in the Sanctuary of the North Site following Wednesday worship

We look forward to your participation in this early-stage conversation.

God's peace,

Pastor Jeff, Judy Forseth, Dayton Henderson, Deni Kuchler, Doug Moard, Brenda Smongeski, and Mark Van Beek

FELC DS Engage Page: Pentecost 9, July 22, 2018

Mark 6:30-34, 53-56 The apostles gathered around Jesus, and told him all that they had done and taught. He said to them, "Come away to a deserted place all by yourselves and rest a while." For many were coming and going, and they had no leisure even to eat. And they went away in the boat to a deserted place by themselves. Now many saw them going and recognized them, and they hurried there on foot from all the towns and arrived ahead of them. As he went ashore, he saw a great crowd; and he had compassion for them, because they were like sheep without a shepherd; and he began to teach them many things.... When they had crossed over, they came to land at Gennesaret and moored the boat. When they got out of the boat, people at once recognized him, and rushed about that whole region & began to bring the sick on mats to wherever they heard he was. And wherever he went, into villages or cities or farms, they laid the sick in the marketplaces, and begged him that they might touch even the fringe of his cloak; and all who touched it were healed.

Sun, July 22: Family Project: Today we heard the 23rd Psalm in our worship. When we hear the phrase "He makes me lie down in green pastures", we traditionally picture the green pastures of Wisconsin. However, this is not an accurate depiction of the terrain surrounding Jerusalem. To get a better understanding of Psalm 23, watch this video. (https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AlrS3h7cH\_A) In it we learn that God never sets us down in a pasture so green that we will never need to move again. Instead, he leads us faithfully through areas where we will have enough food for today. Praise God who provides all we need –as we need it.

Mon, July 23: While Jesus encourages the disciples to get away from the crowds and rest, it seems that he is never quite able to escape. Where does he find the energy to continue to help others? We read that "he had compassion...because they were like sheep without a shepherd." Just as we find energy to help our own children because we love them and they need us, we pray our hearts may be filled with God's love to energize us in dealing with the great needs surrounding us. And may we have wisdom to rest whenever we can!

Tues, July 24: Aren't you amazed at the way the crowds are so single-minded in their pursuit of Jesus. They don't seem to care about his difficult teachings or be suspicious of his motivation. They simply know that he loves them and heals them. May God's love precede us, and healed lives follow, so that people are drawn to Jesus.

Wed., July 25, 2 Kings 4:42-44, Carolyn Klemp Being provided for is one of the best feelings in the world. Not having to worry about where your next meal is coming from or having clean water. We tend to take for granted the things we have, and forget that God provides for us, too. The things God provides are not always immediately noticed, and sometimes we doubt His ability. He shows us consistently that He can and will amaze us in what and how He provides for us. As we see in this and many other biblical passages, He always provides. So today and every day, look at all you have and have been given, and thank God for all He has and will provide for you.

Thurs., July 26, Psalm 145:10-18, Carmen Danz We've heard it time and time again how the Lord has a plan for us, but it's our job to accept His Presence and guidance in times of need. It's easy to acknowledge His guidance when life deals you a good hand, but when things get a little rough, we tend to push God away. I say this not to make anyone feel called out because trust me, we all do it. I recently had a period of time where I needed God's help in making a decision to go back to college or not, but pushed Him away because I was too embarrassed and too prideful to cry out for help. I was convinced I knew myself well enough to get out of a low period in my life by myself. I was wrong. We need to accept that we need help and we shouldn't be ashamed to ask for it. My parents have been very clear about explaining how asking for help makes us stronger and not weaker. I encourage you to look within yourselves and ask if you need God's help because it will only make you stronger.

Fri., July 27, Ephesians 3: 14-21, Zach Hanson We were all made in Christ's image which grants us the special opportunity to look to him for the strength and guidance necessary to grow in our faith. As Christians we can find strength and comfort through God's love. He became a role model in showing the proper way to love one another unconditionally when He sacrificed His only son, Jesus. As God has shown, we can mold ourselves to become a "tree" of love which has its roots in God's love. His love gives us the necessary strength to grow large in our faith and enables us to share His love with all the plants and creatures around us.

Sat., July 28, John 6:1-21 (NRSV), Jack Kent Many of us are familiar with the story of Jesus feeding the 5,000, but I would recommend reading the story one more time. I encountered a verse I have never read before. After Jesus fed the 5,000, he retreated up the mountain to avoid those gathered who were preparing to declare him king (John 6:15). This verse from John reminds me of Matthew 6:5-6 which calls out the hypocrites for praying, not for God, but for their own egos. The gospels frequently depict Jesus' humility, but the lengths to which he would go to keep God in the spotlight were lost on me. Now I'm not telling you to stop showing your faith in public, but ask yourself what your intentions are when you act in the name of God. Are you acting like Jesus, willing to run up a mountain in order to preserve God's message, or are you acting like the hypocrites, doing good solely to inflate your own ego?

FELC NS Engage Page: Pentecost 8, July 22, 2018

Mark 6:(14-15)16-29 But when Herod heard of it, he said, "John, whom I beheaded, has been raised." For Herod himself had sent men who arrested John, bound him, and put him in prison on account of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife, because Herod had married her. For John had been telling Herod, "It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife." And Herodias had a grudge against him, and wanted to kill him. But she could not, for Herod feared John, knowing that he was a righteous and holy man, and he protected him. When he heard him, he was greatly perplexed; and yet he liked to listen to him. But an opportunity came when Herod on his birthday gave a banquet for his courtiers and officers and for the leaders of Galilee. When his daughter Herodias came in and danced, she pleased Herod and his guests; and the king said to the girl, "Ask me for whatever you wish, and I will give it." And he solemnly swore to her, "Whatever you ask me, I will give you, even half of my kingdom." She went out and said to her mother, "What should I ask for?" She replied, "The head of John the baptizer." Immediately she rushed back to the king and requested, "I want you to give me at once the head of John the Baptist on a platter." The king was deeply grieved; yet out of regard for his oaths and for the guests, he did not want to refuse her. Immediately the king sent a soldier of the guard with orders to bring John's head. He went and beheaded him in the prison, brought his head on a platter, and gave it to the girl. Then the girl gave it to her mother. When his disciples heard about it, they came and took his body, and laid it in a tomb.

Sun, July 22: Family Project: Ephesians 1:3-14 is a glorious reminder that we were chosen "in Christ before the foundation of the world." All of us have moments when we feel unwanted, and we all need to hear that Jesus wants us. Have conversations about what makes you feel rejected, and remind one another, "Christ chose you!"

Mon, July 23: It is disconcerting on a nice summer day to come to church and hear this gory story of the beheading of John the Baptist. We also hear from Psalm 85:8 that God promises peace to his people. This story illustrates we have no assurance our lives will be tragedy-free. Struggles don't mean God has forgotten us. Keep faith as God works his purposes through difficulties.

Tues, July 24: The prophet, Amos, described his call by saying, "I am no prophet, nor a prophet's son; but I am a herdsman, and a dresser of sycamore trees, and the Lord took me from following the flock, and the Lord said to me, 'Go, prophesy to my people Israel.'" (v 14-15) God doesn't only call those with prophetic credentials, but works through farmers, herdsman, and people like us.

Wed, July 25, Exodus 16:2-4 9-15, Madi Howard The story of the manna and quail has always stood out to me by reminding me that God will always provide us with exactly what we need, even if our idea of what we need is completely different. In many ways, the Israelites' journey through the desert can be compared to working as an intern at FELC; last summer, I doubted that I would have the skills to successfully plan and rehearse the music for Wednesday Night Worship every week. And again this summer, I have doubted my ability to entertain a bunch of kiddos all day at KidsCLUB. But I know that, despite my self-doubt, God gave me (and will continue to give me) exactly what I need.

Thursday July 26, Psalm 78:23-29, Emma Snyder This passage speaks to me on an artistic level. Currently I am earning a degree in Film Production. There is a special part within this writing: "He rained meat down on them like dust, birds like sand on the seashore." I compare this to filmmaking. Taking words from paper and turning it into a vision on screen. What's cool about this passage is it does that for us within our minds. We look at this writing and imagine food being rained down upon these starving people like dust and sand on the beach. In this passage we acknowledge the beauty of God's wonders and His graciousness of answering our prayers in a beautiful and poetic manner.

Fri, July 27, Ephesians 4:1-16, Reilly March Growing up, I was taught an acronym that represented the idea of grace. We learned "G.R.A.C.E." or "God's riches at Christ's expense" as a way to remember how Jesus' sacrifice leads us to eternal life and forgiveness. Similarly, in this passage, Paul reminds us that "In [Christ] we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of our trespasses, according to the riches of his grace" (Ephesians 1:7). Jesus took our sins and died on the cross for us so that we could be enveloped in God's eternal mercy and love. Jesus shouldered the burden of our sins so that we may be forgiven and continue to give glory to God.

Sat, July 28, John 6:24-35, Heidi Schreiner Oh how different our daily lives would be if our spiritual needs were as physically noticeable as our hunger needs were. It's so obvious when I can feel my own "hanger" (hungry+anger) setting in. However, it's only after a moment of frustration or an internal explosion of impatience or selfishness that I sense that my spiritual needs are not being fed. This passage reminds us of the importance of getting our daily caloric intake of Jesus. Spiritual hunger is a hunger that nothing physical will ever fill. Seek Christ and you will be eternally fed.
